At roughly four thousand lines, the second quarto version of Hamlet—the closest surviving version to what Shakespeare first wrote in late 1599—could not have been performed uncut. Though the Elizabethan stage dispensed with time-consuming intermissions and scenery changes, this version would still have taken four hours to perform; even at top speed, actors couldn't rattle off much more than a thousand lines of verse an hour. With outdoor performances beginning at two in the afternoon and the sun setting at around five o'clock, an uncut Hamlet staged in late fall or winter would have left actors stumbling about on a dark stage. Contemporary references to other plays mention their running time as being closer to two hours.

Early in the twentieth century, San Francisco was the main venue for African American jazz musicians on the West Coast of the United States. Musical activity was centered in a district known as the Barbary Coast, where an abundance of nightclubs provided ample work opportunities for local players and drew musicians and other entertainers, many of them African American, from throughout the country. In 1921, as part of its Prohibition-era efforts, the government closed the Barbary Coast. This closure was the decisive event that established Los Angeles as the premier center for jazz on the West Coast. Once the Barbary Coast was shut down, it became far harder for jazz musicians to make a living in San Francisco; thus, many headed south to Los Angeles.

Yet even before that closing, the center of jazz activity had begun to swing southward. With the largest and fastest growing African American urban community in the West, as well as the growing movie industry and an emerging recording industry, Los Angeles was already a magnet for jazz musicians from other parts of the country, especially New Orleans, where jazz players suffered a devastating blow with closing of the Storyville district in 1917.

In late imperial China (circa 1650-1850), excessive exploitation came not from the sovereign but from his agents, who had shorter-term goals and narrower interests than their ruler did. While the emperor's interest in preempting rebellion militated against overtaxation, his agents had incentives to exploit the taxpayers for their own benefit. Due to weak oversight, the emperor had to keep the taxes low and his bureaucracy small to mitigate this "tyranny at the bottom" effect. This fiscal weakness of the Chinese state had long been masked by its huge tax base; however, the economic expansion of the eighteenth century exacerbated the problems of administrative control, further squeezing the nation's finances and leaving China ill prepared for the challenges of the nineteenth century.

There is mounting evidence that the frequency and magnitude of landsliding is changing in many parts of the world in response to climate change. This is not surprising, given that precipitation is one of the two external triggering mechanisms—the other being seismic activity—involved in the formation of landslides. Evidence from the past clearly indicates that cycles of elevated landslide activity have been followed by cycles of low activity, and that these are correlated with climate fluctuations over a variety of timescales.

What sets current changes in landslide activity apart is the likely influence of anthropogenic (i.e., human-caused) factors, either acting alone or in concert with climate, which can further modify the process of landsliding and the nature of ecosystem responses. Among these factors, deforestation and land-use change have the potential to influence the frequency and magnitude of landsliding because of their direct effects on vegetation attributes that influence slope stability. The extent and conditions under which mountain ecosystems are resilient to these changes—that is, the amount of disturbance they can absorb before changing into states with different structure and function—are not known. Addressing this issue is crucial for the long-term conservation of mountainscapes.

Select one answer choice.

The passage makes which of the following claims?

○A A rise in precipitation resulting from human factors has increased the frequency and magnitude of landsliding.

○B Human factors have led to greater changes in landsliding activity than have cyclical climate fluctuations.

○C Decreases in landsliding activity have historically been accompanied by changes in climate.

○D Slope stability is more influenced by seismic activity than it is by human factors.

○E Changes in land-use patterns in mountain ecosystems are generally correlated with changes in climate.

해설
근거: 'cycles of elevated landslide activity have been followed by cycles of low activity, and that these are correlated with climate fluctuations'.
산사태 감소(low activity) 주기도 기후 변동과 상관 → 감소가 기후 변화와 함께 일어났다 = C.
정답: C

B(인간 요인이 기후 주기보다 더 큰 변화)는 비교 주장이 지문에 없다. A는 '인간에 의한 강수 증가'라는 근거 없는 인과를 만든다.

The author of the passage suggests which of the following about the role of human factors in landsliding activity?

- ☐ A Human factors can intensify or alter the effects of climate change on landsliding activity.
- ☐ B It is likely that human factors affect landsliding activity more than climate change does.
- ☐ C Until recently, human factors did not have much impact on landsliding activity.

해설

A: 'anthropogenic factors, either acting alone or in concert with climate, which can further modify the process of landsliding' → 기후 변화의 효과를 강화·변형할 수 있음, 맞음.

B: 인간 요인이 기후보다 더 크다는 비교는 없음.

C: 'What sets current changes apart is the likely influence of anthropogenic factors'는 현재 변화의 특징을 말할 뿐, 과거 언제까지 영향이 미미했는지는 말하지 않음.

정답: A

⚠ 함정 / 오답 포인트

C는 'What sets current changes … apart'에서 추론하고 싶어지지만, 'until recently … did not have much impact'는 지문이 다루지 않는 시점 주장으로 지나친 추론이다.

In an attempt to reduce the number of violent crimes committed by juveniles, the city of Fiera imposed a curfew requiring juveniles—everyone younger than eighteen—to be indoors between the hours of 11 P.M. and 6 A.M. In the two years since the curfew was imposed, the number of violent crimes committed by juveniles in Fiera has fallen by almost ten percent. Clearly, therefore, the curfew has proven effective at reducing violent juvenile crime.

○C After varying around an apparently stable average for several years, the number of violent crimes committed by juveniles in Fiera increased by twelve percent the year before the imposition of the curfew.

○D Over the last two years, the city of Fiera has substantially increased the size of its police department and made some changes in the crime-fighting tactics the police use.

Some economists suggest that all firms would be expected to pay workers doing identical jobs the same wage. However, studies show that high-profit industries tend to pay more. While some of this observed wage gap could be due to difficulties in measuring workers' talent, it is unlikely that such measurement problems can explain everything. Although talent is hard to measure, factors with which it is presumably correlated, such as education and tenure, are not. Yet studies that control for those factors still find big wage disparities. Moreover, although receptionists, for example, do not become less talented when they leave a high-profit industry to work in an industry with lower profits, their pay tends to drop in line with the wage gap between the two.

Consider each of the choices separately and select all that apply.

According to the passage, which of the following is true regarding difficulties in measuring workers' talent?

☐ A These difficulties cannot fully explain the observed wage gap.

☐ B These difficulties are greater in high-profit industry than in low-profit industries.

☐ C These difficulties can be eliminated by controlling for education and tenure.

해설

A: 'it is unlikely that such measurement problems can explain everything' → 측정 문제로 임금 격차를 다 설명할 수 없음, 맞음.

B: 고수익/저수익 산업 간 측정 어려움 차이는 언급 없음.

C: 교육·근속을 통제해도 'still find big wage disparities' → 어려움이 제거된다는 말은 없음.

정답: A

⚠ 함정 / 오답 포인트

C는 'control for those factors'라는 지문 표현과 겹쳐 끌리지만, 통제는 재능 측정 문제를 '우회'한 것이지 제거한 것이 아니다.

정답 관련 메모
⚠ 원본 답안표 정답은 D이지만, 검토 풀이로는 C이(가) 더 타당해 보입니다. 채점은 원본 기준이며 아래 해설은 검토 풀이 기준입니다. 근거: Key says D, but the highlighted sentence ('Moreover ... for example ...') adds a concrete instance (receptionists keep their talent yet their pay drops with the industry gap) supporting the earlier claim that measurement problems cannot explain everything. It does not evaluate the preceding sentence; it parallels it as additional evidence. Best answer C.

해설
주장: 'it is unlikely that such measurement problems can explain everything' (측정 문제로 다 설명할 수 없다).
근거1: 교육·근속을 통제해도 격차가 큼. 근거2(강조 문장, Moreover + for example): 접수원은 재능이 그대로인데 저수익 산업으로 옮기면 임금이 떨어짐.
→ 앞서 나온 '측정 문제에 대한 주장(assumption)'을 뒷받침하는 사례 제시 = C.
D처럼 앞 문장을 '평가'하는 것이 아니라 그와 나란히 추가 근거를 더한다.
정답: C (교재 정답표는 D)

⚠ 함정 / 오답 포인트
D: 'evaluate'는 앞 문장을 검토·판단한다는 뜻인데, 강조 문장은 앞 문장을 평가하지 않고 'Moreover'로 같은 방향의 증거를 덧붙인다.
