Section 1 12 Questions · 18 Minutes

Question 1 TC 1빈칸

For the blank, select the entry that best completes the text.

Massive geological changes do not always happen gradually; for example, asteroid and comet impacts and volcanic eruptions cause _____ changes in Earth's environment.

- ○A transitory
- ○B precipitate
- ○C predictable
- ○D inconspicuous
- ○E incalculable

Question 2 TC 2빈칸

For each blank, select one entry from the corresponding column of choices.

Considering that experimental treatments that are (i) _____ one mouse population are, nonetheless, ineffectual with other mice, we might reasonably conclude that many rodent studies are not (ii) _____.

Blank (i)	Blank (ii)
extreme for	conceptually innovative successful for	methodologically rigorous
unpredictable in	scientifically controversial

Question 3 TC 3빈칸

For each blank, select one entry from the corresponding column of choices.

The notion of popular science or of the public understanding of science is very much a concern in today's world, where we can see (i) _____ between science and nonscience. But in the nineteenth century, there was still an enviable mixing and cross-fertilization between seemingly (ii) _____ subjects, and there was no (iii) _____ what counted as science, let alone how a public understanding might differ from any other sort of understanding.

Blank (i)	Blank (ii)	Blank (iii)
very permeable boundaries	disparate	foreknowledge of a historical synergy	redundant	candor about a clear demarcation	resurgent	consensus on

Questions 4 to 5 are based on the following passage.

Exotic insect pests can produce both short- and long-term effects of forest ecosystems. Short-term effects include the disturbances directly associated with the action of the pest, which may cause the defoliation, loss of vigor, or death of trees. Long-term effects are primarily mediated by changes in tree species composition and the consequent alternations of forest structure, productivity, and nutrient uptake. Exotic pests are more efficient than most abiotic disturbances (e.g., fire or wind) at producing long-term changes in species composition. Pests often target specific tree species and, if they become established, they usually remain as permanent components of the ecosystem. Shifts in forest species composition ramify through the ecosystem in many ways because tree species have different, often unique properties.

Question 4 RC 복수

Consider each of the choices separately and select all that apply.

The passage mentions which of the following as effects of exotic pests on forest ecosystems?

- ☐ A Decreased vitality in trees
- ☐ B Defoliation of trees
- ☐ C Change in forest structure

Question 5 RC

(Highlighted portion: "unique properties")

Select one answer choice.

The author of the passage mentions the "unique properties" of tree species primarily in order to help explain

- ○ A why pests tend to target specific tree species
- ○ B why pests can have long-term effects on entire ecosystems
- ○ C how pests contribute to shifts in forest species composition
- ○ D how pests are able to become established in an ecosystem
- ○ E how some tree species are able to withstand the effects of pests

Question 6 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

For certain economists, "pure" economic theory, that is, economic theory _____ a specific social structure, is impossible, much like a concept of anatomy that investigates no specific species.

- ☐ A attuned to
- ☐ B abstracted from
- ☐ C derived from
- ☐ D divorced from
- ☐ E sensitive to
- ☐ F analyzed in

Question 7 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

Many people remember a time when cutting-edge architects, who are these days treated like celebrities, had _____ relationship with the public: for much of the 1960s, big new buildings in cities were often cause for hostility, not celebration.

- ☐ A an antagonistic
- ☐ B an inimical
- ☐ C an autocratic
- ☐ D a symbiotic
- ☐ E an indifferent
- ☐ F an apathetic

Question 8 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

Although it is premature to say whether nanomotors would _____ conventional methods, Wang believes that the most promising applications for nanomotors lie in fast drug delivery or low-cost cleanup of environmental pollutants.

- ☐ A replicate
- ☐ B complement
- ☐ C eliminate
- ☐ D supplant
- ☐ E supersede
- ☐ F exacerbate

Question 9 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

Though initially presented in a blaze of hyperbole, the thesis is repeated even more _____ in the ensuing paragraphs.

- ☐ A vehemently
- ☐ B pragmatically
- ☐ C soberly
- ☐ D emphatically
- ☐ E pretentiously
- ☐ F sensibly

Questions 10 to 12 are based on the following passage.

Zora Neale Hurston's 1942 autobiography, 《Dust Tracks on a Road》, has received some of the most negative criticism of any of Hurston's books. Among critics' complaints—some from Hurston's warmest admirers—is the work's fragmentary nature, a nature which, while presented in other Hurston texts, including the universally acclaimed novel 《Their Eyes Were Watching God》, is particularly conspicuous in 《Dust Tracks》. The complaints about 《Dust Tracks》 are valid if one insists on the cardinal conventions of autobiography: traditional autobiographical structure and formal organization, and a focused projection of the autobiographical persona. But 《Dust Tracks》 portrays a persona that resists reduction to a coherent unity—a person of many moods who is in tension with the world in which she moves. In order to correspond better to this persona, 《Dust Tracks》 focuses on the fragmented life of Hurston's imagination: the psychological dynamics of her family, community stories, and characters of friends.

Question 10 RC

Select one answer choice.

The primary purpose of the passage is to

○A explain why 《Dust Tracks》 has been less well received than other similarly structured works by Hurston

○B argue that a supposed deficiency in 《Dust Tracks》 actually contributes to the work's presentation of its subject

○C compare the critical reaction to 《Dust Tracks》 with the critical reaction to 《Their Eyes Were Watching God》

○D point out specific similarities between the structure of 《Dust Tracks》 and the structure of Hurston's other works

○E suggest that some critics' evaluations of 《Dust Tracks》 is influenced by their rejection of certain conventions of autobiography

Question 11 RC

Select one answer choice.

The author of the passage suggests that critics' complaints about the structure of 《Dust Tracks》 are

○A not valid, because 《Dust Tracks》 should not be judged by the standards of conventional autobiography

○B unjustified, because they have not been directed at other Hurston texts that are similarly structured

○C justified, given the extent to which 《Dust Tracks》 is autobiographical

○D inexplicable, given the critical response to 《Their Eyes Were Watching God》

○E compelling, because Huston's warmest admirers have complained the most strenuously

Question 12 RC

Select one answer choice.

Which of the following best describes the organization of the passage?

○A A situation is presented and an explanation of how that situation developed is offered.

○B Two opposing points of view are contrasted and their relative merits are evaluated.

○C An orthodox view is discussed, a challenge to it is analyzed, and the original view is affirmed.

○D A point of view is described and an analysis challenging that point of view follows.

○E A dispute is analyzed and several points of agreement between the two sides are identified.

Section 2 15 Questions · 23 Minutes

Question 1 TC 1빈칸

For the blank, select the entry that best completes the text.

If we admire Winslow Homer as he wished to be admired, for his avoidance of claptrap and sentimentality, we may fear that Wood has done him a disservice by introducing _____ note into his discussion of the painter.

- ○A an acerbic
- ○B a supercilious
- ○C an austere
- ○D a maudlin
- ○E an ironic

Question 2 TC 2빈칸

For each blank, select one entry from the corresponding column of choices.

While catalogs of record labels that specialize in Native American music are useful indices of Native American consumers' preferences, their (i)_____ are also (ii)_____: some genres of Native American music have been deemed inappropriate to record because of their special cultural significance.

Blank (i)	Blank (ii)
strategies	telling
omissions	misleading
inconsistencies	surprising

Question 3 TC 3빈칸

For each blank, select one entry from the corresponding column of choices.

The only way to definitively test a large civil engineering structure such as a bridge is to build it in anticipation of possible challenges from nature and then let nature take its course. That is not to say that every new large structure is a (i) _____. Engineers understand a great deal about the behavior and limitations of their structures' components. Furthermore, it is the (ii) _____ structure that is built more than 10 or 20 percent larger than its predecessors, thus allowing engineers to move (iii) _____ into unknown territory.

Blank (i)	Blank (ii)	Blank (iii)
success	conventional	incrementally
gamble	unusual	unchecked
mistake	outstanding	enthusiastically

Question 4 TC 3빈칸

For each blank, select one entry from the corresponding column of choices.

It appears that the terrestrial biosphere has been absorbing a significant fraction of anthropogenic CO_2, thereby slowing down the rate of global climate change. However, the (i) _____ of this (ii) _____ is not (iii) _____: if pushed too far, the biosphere might become a net source of CO_2, thereby accelerating climate change and causing a positive feedback loop.

Blank (i)	Blank (ii)	Blank (iii)
complexity	additional information	imminent
actuality	formidable challenge	surprising
continuation	compensatory mechanism	guaranteed

Questions 5 to 6 are based on the following passage.

The hypothesis that paranormal phenomena are real but lie outside the limits of science is supported by considerable evidence. The Society for Psychical Research has collected stories of ordinary people apparently demonstrating paranormal abilities. Entirely anecdotal, this evidence has nothing to do with science, since it cannot be reproduced under controlled conditions. But the society took great trouble to interview first-hand witnesses and to document the stories carefully. One fact that emerges clearly from the stories is that paranormal events occur, if they occur at all, only when people are experiencing strong emotion. This would immediately explain why paranormal phenomena are not observable under the conditions of a well-controlled scientific experiment. Strong emotion is inherently incompatible with controlled scientific procedures.

Question 5 RC 복수

Consider each of the choices separately and select all that apply.

It can be inferred that the author of the passage would agree with which of the following descriptions of the evidence collected by the Society for Psychical Research?

- ☐ A carefully recorded
- ☐ B unscientific
- ☐ C credible

Question 6 RC

Select one answer choice.

Which of the following best describes the role played in the passage by the highlighted sentence (the final sentence)?

- ○ A It states the main conclusion of the author's argument.
- ○ B It provides a basis for a recommended course of action.
- ○ C It articulates a principle that supports the claim made in the preceding sentence.
- ○ D It is intended to undermine the credibility of apparent evidence that the author has mentioned earlier in the passage.
- ○ E It serves to emphasize a limitation of the evidence collected by the Society for Psychical Research.

Questions 7 to 9 are based on the following passage.

Huron Indian culture in the seventeenth century valued conformity and strongly discouraged idiosyncratic behavior. Since few wished to endure dishonor or reproach, public criticism was often used effectively as a strong pressure for conformity. However, it is a fallacy to equate intolerance of idiosyncratic behavior with lack of respect for individual dignity. While most individuals attempted to live up to society's ideals, they remained highly sensitive to the preservation of individual honor, and personal independence remained highly important. Overt attempts to coerce anyone were strongly opposed. And if such coercion came from outside a person's clan, it was considered an affront to the clan, as well as to the individual. The individual's right to be free from overt constraint was also reinforced by Huron custom and by the vigor with which each clan guarded its independence and privileges. Custom did not permit society as a whole to punish offenders. Responsibility for an individual's actions was assumed by the individual's own clan.

Question 7 RC

(Highlighted portion: "Overt attempts to coerce anyone were strongly opposed.")

Select one answer choice.

The author refers to the Huron attitude toward coercion primarily in order to

○A weaken the claim that the desire to avoid dishonor and criticism influenced behavior in Huron society

○B weaken the claim that vigorous protection of clan privileges caused clashes among the clans

○C support the claim that the Hurons valued conformity more than independence

○D support the contention that the clan was important in shaping the customs governing personal independence

○E support the view that Huron culture respected an individual's personal freedom

Question 8 RC

Select one answer choice.

According to the passage, Huron custom in the seventeenth century did all of the following EXCEPT

○A encourage personal independence

○B preserve the independence of each clan

○C discourage idiosyncratic actions

○D foster respect for individual dignity

○E curb public criticism of individuals

Question 9 RC

Select one answer choice.

It can be inferred from the passage that if the behavior of an individual member of Huron society was strikingly out of the ordinary, the individual would most likely be

○A punished by the society for setting a bad example for his or her clan

○B pressured by family and friends to follow the society's code of behavior

○C punished by his or her clan only if the behavior adversely affected other members of the clan

○D encouraged by members of clans other than the individual's clan to continue his or her independent behavior

○E praised by fellow clan members for being an individualist whose independence was admirable

Question 10 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

In the nineteenth century, the dish known as lobster Newburg was sometimes associated with the culinary accessory known as the chafing dish, but Welsh rarebit was considered the truly _____ chafing dish recipe.

☐A indigenous

☐B sumptuous

☐C ubiquitous

☐D paradigmatic

☐E newfangled

☐F archetypal

Question 11 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

Despite the critic's assertion that Willa Cather's place in the literary canon is now so entrenched that it scarcely matters if she were really a modernist, her reputation arguably remains _____.

☐A flawless

☐B uncertain

☐C impressive

☐D tenuous

☐E consequential

☐F steadfast

Question 12 SE

Select the two answer choices that produce completed sentences that are alike in meaning.

Because archaeology explores the most profound changes in human history by means of a grossly incomplete record, it has invited the sort of bold, imaginative interpretation in which speculation too easily becomes _____ evidence.

- ☐ A replaced by
- ☐ B constrained by
- ☐ C untethered from
- ☐ D divorced from
- ☐ E substituted for
- ☐ F constricted by

Question 13 is based on the following passage.

> Prehistoric humans domesticated wolves, which eventually developed into dogs. Based on all available archaeological evidence, archaeologists are certain that there were no dogs in Europe much earlier than 14,000 years ago. According to current genetic divergence theory, however, dogs must have started becoming a distinct species from wolves as early as 135,000 years ago, and it is extremely unlikely that dogs would have started becoming a distinct species unless they had been domesticated.

Question 13 CR

Select one answer choice.

Which of the following hypotheses is most strongly supported by the information given?

- ○ A Wolves were the first animals to be domesticated.
- ○ B Dogs were first domesticated in an area other than Europe.
- ○ C The modern dog is not actually a distinct species form the wolf.
- ○ D Once dogs had become a distinct species from wolves, prehistoric humans no longer domesticated wolves.
- ○ E There were no wolves in Europe much earlier than 14,000 years ago.

Questions 14 to 15 are based on the following passage.

> Few central Asian textiles from the Timurid period(1370~1526 C.E.) have survived to be dated. Scholars have long assumed that Timurid rugs with geometric patterns were replaced in royal courts by floral-patterned rugs only at the end of the 1400s, under the influence of the painter Behzad(circa 1455~circa 1536). Nevertheless, the presence of floral-patterned rugs in court scenes from two paintings in a 1440s Timurid manuscript suggests that floral-patterned rugs were already being used at that time. Whether the occasional presence of geometric rugs in similar paintings after the 1440s means that the tradition of weaving rugs with geometric patterns also continued, or whether here the painters simply followed a well-established formula, is still an open question.

Question 14 RC

Select one answer choice.

According to the passage, after the 1440s, Timurid paintings of court scenes

○A generally followed well-established formulas

○B are more likely to have survived than Timurid textiles

○C were greatly influenced by the painter Behzad

○D are frequently found in Timurid manuscripts

○E sometimes showed rugs with geometric patterns

Question 15 RC 복수

Consider each of the choices separately and select all that apply.

The passage implies which of the following about the introduction of floral-patterned rugs in Timurid royal courts?

☐A It explains the absence of any surviving geometric-patterned rugs.

☐B It predates any influence wielded by the painter Behzad.

☐C It occurred earlier than scholars have long thought.
